

HELP KEEP THE WATERSHED WILD

Dear Friends,

As we round out another year here in the Georges River watershed, the change of seasons brings an opportunity to reflect on the past year. Fall reminds us of all the changes we see in a year spent outside: rabbit tracks in the February snow, the first songbird of April, marathon June hikes, turtles soaking up the August heat on the riverbank, a single oak leaf hanging on in the October breeze. The year ends, to begin again.

Thanks to you, these precious moments were there, waiting for us to discover them — in our wild places.

We are also reminded of larger forces facing our watershed. As we continue to witness the growing effects of climate change around the globe, we are asking ourselves tough questions about our own local community. What can be done now to protect and preserve our watershed, for today, for our children, and for future generations?

Georges River Land Trust has launched the most ambitious conservation effort in our history, Keep the Watershed Wild, and we need your help to make this vision a reality.

By giving today, you will help conserve 1,000 acres of the highest priority landscapes, making a meaningful difference for climate change and ensuring community access for all. Your gift will help elevate the experience on our preserves, fostering a love of nature. Your support will help the Langlais Sculpture Preserve grow and thrive. Partnering with us today protects and celebrates this incredible place — forever. We are excited to continue our work and we hope you will join us on this endeavor.

With gratitude,

Meg Rasmussen
Executive Director

*P.S. Check out the complete Keep the Watershed Wild plan on our website at georgesriver.org/keep-the-watershed-wild/*